About ALM Works

We develop specialized project management solutions that empower the people who oversee multiple projects. Our goal is to make it easy for everyone involved in a project to follow, maintain and improve the processes that exist in their organization. Founded in 2004, ALM Works was an early contributor to the Atlassian ecosystem.

Our products are used by more than 4,000 Atlassian customers worldwide.

Structure for Jira helps Atlassian's largest customers visualize, track and manage progress across projects with adaptable, user-defined issue hierarchies.

Structure.Gantt is our most popular Structure extension. It enables users to easily add the power of Gantt charts to Jira project management.

Structure.Pages is a Structure extension that lets you create, manage and organize Confluence pages alongside Jira issues.

Structure.Testy is a Structure extension that enables fast, hassle-free test planning and reporting for Jira issues.

Partner Program

Structure for Jira and its extensions are extremely flexible and versatile. They empower our customers with the ability to create comprehensive project management solutions tailored to their individual requirements — not adjust their desired processes to a tool's limitations. This flexibility, however, means Structure products are not plug-and-play. Someone needs to design and implement the customer's desired solutions, provide user training, and offer support. Moreover, Structure is also most useful in large Jira installations. That means larger implementation projects for you. We believe this makes Structure a perfect Jira app for Atlassian Solution Partners.

We select partners for our mutual long-term growth and success, and we provide them with outstanding support. Our ultimate goal is to build positive customer relationships through successful implementations, while providing our partners with more exciting and profitable projects.
