

Automate HR Tasks with Jira and Insight

The addition of Insight to Jira gives your HR teams the tools they need to be productive and successful.

Addressing HR difficulties head-on

Managing your human resources data isn't easy. From onboarding employees to ensuring that every team member has the tools and training they need to succeed, manually collecting and handling all that information is as time-consuming as it is inefficient.

Insight's data management and automation technology can turn your HR processes into cost-effective productivity boosters.

Streamline HR service delivery

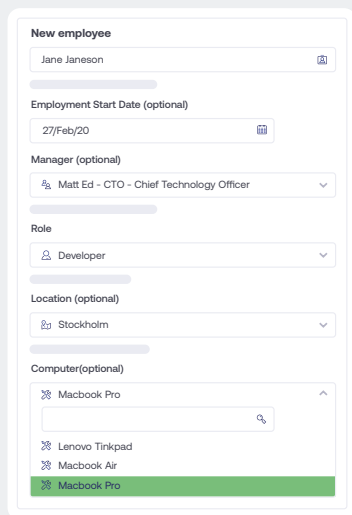

Insight will enrich Jira with additional automation and master data management to create a complete service management solution for HR teams as well as for the managers and other teams involved in the process.

The biggest value comes when you are able to connect the HR processes with the assets you're tracking. With Insight, you get the ability to store and manage important data, the relationships between the data and connect this with your Jira issues.

Ensure quality and control in employee onboarding

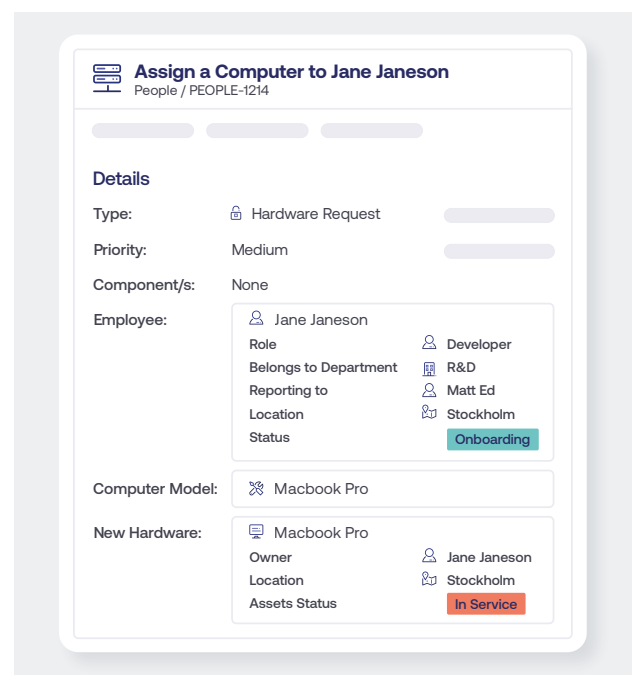

Automation saves time by eliminating manual time-consuming activities. HR teams can ensure new employees have all they need on day one including hardware, software, security accounts, and any other tools and information.

With automation, HR teams will have the ability to set up multi-team processes with workflows that save time, speed up those processes and ensure quality.

Efficient employee and HR interaction through a service portal

Customizable workflows ensure the expedient and correct routing of requests to the right people. You'll be able to enrich HR requests with the relevant assets connected to the employee in Insight and instantly provide the correct context for the assignee.

Using Insight with Jira Service Desk gives employees the ability to access HR services directly and more precisely with detailed employee information and a convenient service catalog from Insight. They'll be able to create, monitor, and follow up on their HR related requests with ease.

Minimize administration tasks and save time

Insight gives HR teams instant access to accurate and up-to-date information saving valuable time. It can then be used for planning and reporting purposes (e.g. "How many employees are in the Dallas office?" or "What devices is a certain employee using?").
