Last updated: just a moment ago by Maggie • 1 min read • Scroll Viewport

We're always working on new marketing content to help more people learn about Good Software and what we do here. Our content covers many different topics, and is produced using many different mediums.

The best part is that our marketing content is created by everyone on the team. So, if you have an idea for something we should share with the world, then start creating it!

To do this:

1. Mention the project in the #marcom channel and find someone to help with publishing
2. Create a new content page using the button below
3. Once the content has been published publicly, archive the internal page
