ABOUT DIGITAS

> DIGITAS NAMED A LEADER AGAIN IN GARTNERS 2019 MAGIC QUADRANT FOR GLOBAL MARKETING AGENCIES.

Digitas is a connected marketing agency. They are made up of creative, data, media, strategy, and technology experts, responsible for uncovering and acting on the truths that help brands connect better with people.

- Digitas no longer worry about their mission-critical applications after Clearvision migrated their software to a trusted hosted environment.
- Their software was upgraded; they are now able to make the most out of what they use with the latest versions.
- The network integration required to connect them to Crowd was setup by experts, saving them the hassle.

The Challenge.

Digitas needed to migrate their Atlassian SDLC applications: Jira Software, Confluence, Bitbucket and Bamboo to a hosted service provider following a strategic decision to close down their data centers.

Due to restrictions with their Active Directory, Digitas had to continue hosting Crowd within their data center, and so they needed a network integration setup to connect this.

The Solution.

After ten years of providing successful services to Digitas, Clearvision's trusted cloud solution ClearHost was carefully selected by Digitas to host their mission critical applications.

Clearvision consultants worked hard to migrate their software to ClearHost, providing support throughout and even upgrading their applications over to the latest versions. They also created a network integration setup which connected to their version of Crowd, saving them the trouble.
