Agile Mentoring

Driving transformation from the inside, out

As organisations scale and become more complex, siloed teams and inefficient ways of working can become embedded in company culture, making it difficult for organisations to pivot and maintain a competitive edge.

Our agile mentoring workshops help kick-start transformation by uncovering small opportunities for change that can immediately improve how your teams work.

- Introduce key ideas about lean and agile
- Uncover current processes and potential improvements
- Apply lean and agile thinking to deliver real business value through software
- Identify current and future business models and value streams
- Bridge gaps between customer-focused teams and strategic decision makers

Social Insight

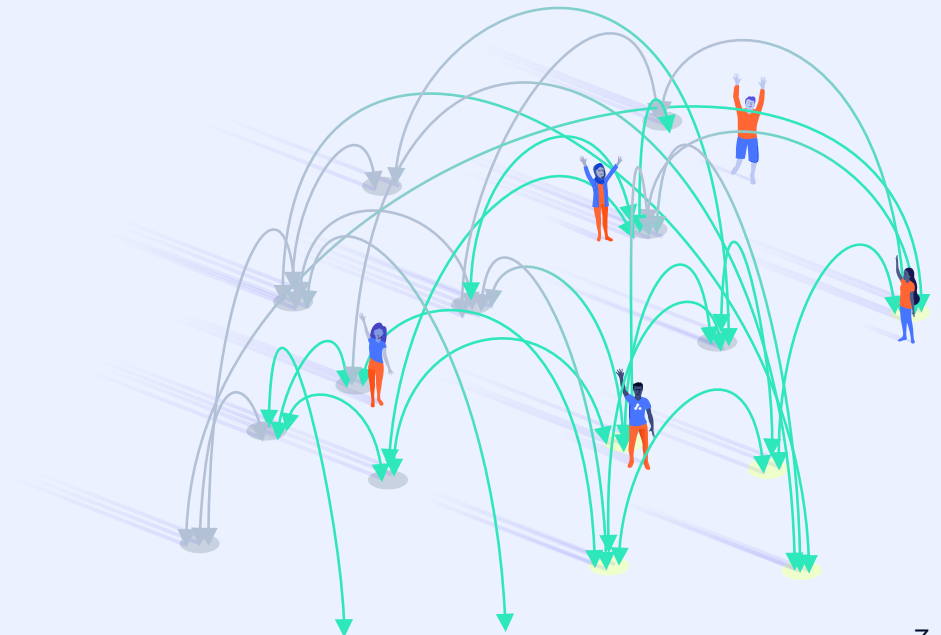

Uncover collaborative networks, and deliver meaningful change

As companies grow, team members reach out to their colleagues to help solve the new problems they face, and informal social networks begin to form.

While often hidden, these networks can be mission-critical for successful organisational transformation, and are often a more reliable blueprint for success than structures that focus on individual skills and competencies. Uncover them with Adaptavist Social Insight.

- Shine a light on how your business is really operating
- Baseline your organisation's readiness for transformation
- Get a report and visual map of the informal social networks in your organisation
- Solidify and legitimise your informal networks to enable successful change initiatives

Jira Align Liftoff

An end-to-end program to get 1–2 Agile Release Trains in a SAFe® organisation up and running successfully with Jira Align.
